Jun 10, 2009

by Michael Kpayili / Staff Writer

Senior Fellow assigned at the John F. Kennedy Medical Center, Dr. James L. Tomarken receives the donated microscope from Dr. Adam Cohen and Mr. Benjamin Rapoport

After spending three days and nights at the Booker Washington Institute in Kakata City, Margibi County, the visiting Science delegation has arrived in Monrovia in continuance of their visit at learning institutions and organizations in Liberia. The Harvard trained experts are guests of the I Help Liberia Project and the Liberian Mandingo Association in New York (LIMANY).

Dr. Adam Cohen and Ben Rapoport visited the John F. Kennedy Medical Hospital and formally donated a modern Microscope to the medical center. The donation is in fulfillment to request earlier sent to LIMANY for possible aid by family of the John F. Kennedy Medical Center. Presenting the Microscope on behalf of the I Help Liberia family, Dr. Adam Cohen expressed the hope that the material will be used for the benefit of the hospital. He said their visit to Liberia is predicated upon inspiration from their former teacher at Hunter College High School, Mr. Asumana Jabateh Randolph who established the I Help Liberia project. The I help Liberia project is a nongovernmental organization established to assist Liberia especially in the areas of Science education. According to Dr. Cohen, the inspiration given them by Mr. Randolph to venture in the area of Science has made them Scientists and there was a need to give back to Liberia such rewarding gift Liberia has given them.

Receiving the Microscope on behalf of JFK family, the senior Fellow assigned at the John F. Kennedy Medical Center, Dr. James L. Tomarken thanked the I Help Liberia Project for such a prompt donation. He said there are limited Microscope at the medical Center and categorized the donation as magnificently wonderful. Dr. James L. Tomarken is a Senior Fellow and member of Yale-Clinton Foundation Fellowship in International Healthcare Management.

Dr. Cohen and Mr. Rapoport also visited the Tubman National Institute of Medical Arts (TNIMA) and met with students and teachers at the institution. According to Ben Rapoport, the visit at TNIMA is to give high level of inspiration to students as well as teachers and to further motivate them for selecting science as their lifetime careers.

The two I Help Liberia science delegates later tour facilities of the JFK Hospital and met with Staffs and patients at the institution. The team will later visit major areas in Monrovia where they will take their break for another busy task at the Ministry of education and the United Methodist University.
